Graduation thesis concerns possibilities of working with Karel Čapek's work in teaching literature at high school. Its essence is verifying proposed activities in praxis and reflexion of results achieved. Source publications for proposed activities are Hordubal, Povětroň, Obyčejný život. Common goal of those activities is to get pupils in direct contact with literature and its interpretation by attractive and understandable way. Conclusions of the thesis are derived from results of activities, observation and pupils reflections. I give reason for proposed activities by partial goals that I want to fulfill with them. In reflections I evaluate the process, reaching goals.
