

The aim of this thesis is to identify key requirements for exploring Linked Data and design and implement a web application which serves as a Linked Data browser, including search and customization features. In comparison to existing approaches it will enable users to provide templates which define a visual style for presentation of particular types of Linked Data resources. Alternatively, the application can provide other means of altering the presentation of data or the appearance of the application.