

I dedicated my diploma work called „Perspectives in education and employment of mental disabled people“ to rising interest of the whole society in the rights of not only mental disabled people, which is demonstrating in the Czech legislature as well.

I come out from international documents about rights of disabled people, some of them were accepted by the Czech Republic. I also mention the main laws about education and employment of disabled people. The text is complemented with three interviews with people involved in this topic and my own experience of personal assistant in supported employment.

The main objective of my diploma work is to point out the importance of rights of disabled people, their advancing and applying in common life to let each individual live a good quality and meaningful life at the background of the wider community.
