

ABSTRACT

The diploma thesis deals with the personality of a teacher at the first grade of primary school and his influence on the climate of a class.

The theoretical part is dedicated to school class like a small social group and phenomenon, which exists there. It examines the personality of a pupil, a teacher and his properties, where the emphasis is on the teacher's style of teaching, education and interaction. Finally the attention is paid to concept climate of a class.

The practical part aims to evaluate interaction style of a teacher and to measure a climate in the particular classes, to compare them and find out, what influence interaction style has on pupil's satisfaction in the class.

KEYWORDS

small social group, personality of pupil, personality of a teacher, style of teaching, style of education, interaction style, climate of class