Evaluation

Major criteria:

Very interesting topic, the effort for deep analysis of China's behaviour in the ILO and its motives for it. I appreciate the comparison of the positions of the three countries - China, India and the US in the annex.

The theoretical framework is not as a whole explicitly treated, but interwoven with the various passages or various aspects of the analysed topic. However I miss an explicit login to a specific theoretical concept, implicitly it is China's behaviour in the ILO examined from the point of view of liberalism. Don't but an offensive realism of Mearsheimer?

Minor criteria:

A list of resources used is not structured.

Overall evaluation:

This diploma work despite its minor inaccuracies meets the conditions of the thesis.

Verification of the hypothesis? Answering the research questions? Submitted by the conclusion of the unnecessarily sinking the previous careful analysis.

Suggested grade: B - good
