

Abstract

Topic of the Bachelor thesis Phenomenon of Time is a thorough analysis of the concept of time in the works of the philosophers Plato, Aristotle, Augustine, Kant and the phenomenological concept of time in Husserl and Heidegger.

Plato's concept of time is described in his book Timaios.

Aristotle's concept of time is primarily described in the Book IV of the Physica. Time, space, movement, randomness and other terms are analysed as well.

Kant's concept of time is described in the book, Critic of Pure Reason. Also other Kant's terms are analysed like apriori space and time concept, analytical and synthetical judgements, movements and others.

Phenomenological concept of time and temporality of Husserl and Heidegger is described in the book Being and Time.

The second part is the bachelor thesis is formulation of my subjective view of the phenomenon of time in three specific occurrences – time of the world, time of people and time of Gods.
