

Abstract:

Bachelor thesis Dialogue between Great Britain and Germany before the First World War is focused on political development of foreign policy in these two countries in period before the First World War. It deals with supreme political leaders of both countries and their attitude towards foreign policy.