

Eastern Uzh varieties of North Central Romani

Michael Beníšek

ERRATA LIST (2017-07-20)

1. Running text

side/line (counting from)	original	correction
20/10 (below)	accomodated	accommodated
49/14 (below)	borrowed	borrowed
49/9 (below)	[tʃeɪderis]	[tʃeɪderis]
49/7 (below)	[ti:keris]	[ti:keris]
50/2 (above)	[iɹ]	[iɹ]
53/8 (above)	[bu:.'ca:ʃ.no ~ 'buv.'ca:ʃ.no]	[bu:.'ca:ʃ.no ~ buv.'ca:ʃ.no]
106/6-5 (below)	Still, inherited derivational morphology of causatives and anticausatives is still present	Still, inherited derivational morphology of causatives and anticausatives is present
286/2 (below)	borrowed	borrowed
350/16-15 (below)	genitive, which is the most conservative option	genitive, which is the most conservative option
423/21-17 (below)	The identical form also serves the function of as a disjunctive coordinator in interrogative sentences (see 13.5.2). The following sentences illustrate the polar complements of imperative predicates (28), (29), a polar complement of immediate perception (30) and an epistemic polar complement (31).	The identical form also serves the function of a disjunctive coordinator in interrogative sentences (see 13.5.2). The following sentences illustrate the polar complements of imperative predicates (28), (31), a polar complement of immediate perception (29) and an epistemic polar complement (30).
466/3-2 (below)	Like Slavic languages,	Like in Slavic languages,

2. Sentence examples

page (example)	occurrence	original	correction
64-65 (1)	all occurrences	AOR	IPF/POT
102 (68)	translation	‘These shoes are made of snake’s leather.’	‘This ring is made of metal.’
258 (97)	all occurrences	bread	beard
385 (30)	gloss of diňal	AOR.2SG	give.AOR.2SG
459 (210)	gloss of blaka	balcony	window