

This diploma work is concerned about multiculturalism in the Czech Republic and its influence on people living in the Czech society and its connection with forming attitudes, stereotypes and in some cases discrimination.

The work is also about multiculturalism in current educational system and its opportunities which might be used to educate not only Czech pupils, but also foreignpupils, especially Vietnamese, at primary school. The work is engaged in introduction of culture, traditions, history and other aspects of life in Vietnam. The knowledge of all these aspects might help us to find the best way of inclusion foreign-pupils into the Czech society.