

This thesis presents the project method and its practical use at the first level of elementary school.

The theoretical part describes history of the project education, types of projects, advantages and project drawbacks.

The practical part deals with 10 different projects introducing themes, objectives, tools, description and detailed description of teacher's and students activities.