

Abstract:

The Bachelor thesis deals with a position of the 2nd generation of Vietnamese in the Czech Republic – their integration into Czech society on the one hand and their establishment within Vietnamese minority on the other. Based on the study of literature of Vietnamese migration and integration, comparisons of Czech and Vietnamese culture and publications of the members of given generation, we described the specifics of the so-called Second Generation of Vietnamese in the Czech Republic, both in psychological, linguistic, cultural and social terms. In the second, analytically focused part of the thesis, we obtained data on the socio-cultural aspects of young Vietnamese living in the Czech Republic.

Keywords:

Vietnamese language, Czech language, second generation, “banana children”, sociocultural aspects, cultural comparison