

Annotation

Author: Jana Kirchbergerová

Institution: Charles University of Prague,

Faculty of Medicine in Hradec Králové,

Department of Social Medicine, Department of Nursing

Title: The ethics of dying and death in the profession of nurses

Supervisor: PhDr. Mariana Štefančíková, Ph.D.

Number of pages:

Number of attachments:

Year of defense: 2017

Key words: Dying, death, palliative care, nursing care of the dying, pain, ethics in health care

Bachelor thesis deals with the ethics of dying and death from the perspective of nurses in homes for the elderly, in the opthal sanatorium, in a hospice and in the nursing home.

In the Theoretical part we give a short introduction of the issues of dying and death. Furthermore, palliative care, nursing care of the dying, pain and ethics in health care.

The empirical part of the thesis deals with a qualitative survey investigation in the form of semistructured interview, which is aimed on general nurses, and the mapping of their point of view over the issue.

The Data was processed on the basis of open coding.

The aim of this bachelor thesis is to identify and assess the perspective of nurses on the issue of death and dying at different sites, which they individually describe.

