

The bachelor thesis deals with pedagogical and educational possibilities of libraries and museums in the Czech Republic. It focuses not only on their current tendencies, but also on new trends and visions. It examines the cooperation of schools and its teachers with these cultural institutions. It also focuses on the development of child literacy and the issue of school libraries. The practical part of the thesis is divided into two parts. The first one describes and evaluates the Bata Institute 14|15 as a center of book, museum and gallery culture. Special attention is paid to the education and training provided of these institutions, including accompanying programs. The second part reports on the preparation, creation and opening of the ARS BELLUM exhibition: War art.
