

The final draught with open (participational) model of educational system of a school in the sphere of educational activities, possibilities for tested and non-traditional cooperation of schools and educational institutions with educational and other subjects.

The work is based on pieces of information, found in special professional literature, and negotiations of international organizations. They mainly focus on the education of children and their free-time activities. Furthermore, it is based on a research which was done in 105 schools and educational institutions.

The school will still remain an irreplaceable social institution in the up-coming 15-20 years, according to the researches and surveys of the future look of a school. The task for the school managers will be to search for suitable partners that offer free-time activities to children.

Based on professional literature and results of a research, this work shows some possibilities for cooperation of schools and educational institutions with various partners. It summarizes the experience of participants that were addressed in the research.