

Abstract

This bachelor thesis deals with the issue of dead fetus. The thesis has a theoretical and practical part. In the theoretical part, the terminology distinguishing birth and abortion, delivery of a dead fetus including the appropriate use of epidural analgesia are analyzed in individual chapters. I also deal with psychological issues that occur during childbirth. The last chapter of the theoretical part is devoted to social and legal support. The practical part is devoted to cases from the birth hall, where I analyze a particular case from the delivery room. The main emphasis is placed on the importance of the nursing process in the care of a woman with a suitable determination of nursing diagnoses and their complete realization. The output of my bachelor thesis is a recommendation for a practice devoted. The work as a whole is intended for midwives and midwifery students. The bachelor thesis is supplemented by annexes for clarity.
